It is said that the Kaiser has cut off the ends of his wellknown and justly famous moustache. We don't believe it. It is an invention of the enemy. Without that moustache with the scaring ends he wouldn't be the same old Kaiser. One can imagine Buffalo Bill with a hair cut, or Elbert Hubbard with a hair cut, or Jham Lewis with Galway clippers, or that Baltimore clothing chap without his lambskins or Joe Cannon without his jocosannos, but as for the Kaiser denouncing his moustache—well there aint no such animal.

James Smith, an inmate of the poor farm was struck and killed by the Burlington passenger train going south at 1 P M, Tuesday afternoon. Mr Smith was rather deaf, and it is thought by the engine crew that he did not hear the train until it got close upon him that he was unable to get out of the way. The engine struck him and threw him off the track. He was picked up and taken to Homer by the train crew, but he only lived a short time after he was removed from the train. The unfortunate old man had no friends to care for him, and the last duty that can be performed for him will be done by the county.

In the damage suit of the heirs of Fred Kunzi against Peter Kautz, auctioneer at Homer, in which the plaintiffs sued for damages for the accidental death of Kunzi while intoxicated, claiming that the liquor was purchased at Kautz' saloon, the jury in the district court last Wednesday evening returned a verdict for the defendant, Kautz. The case of the State against George Kimes, charged with holding up and robbing Fred Breake while crossing the combination bridge, was tried to a jury Thursday. The jury failed to agree on a verdict and was discharged by the court. Kimes gave bond in the sum of $500 for his appearance at the next term of court. The term of court adjourned on Friday.

An event that seldom happens in the lives of married couples was celebrated in the home of Mr and Mrs Augustus T Hase in this place Tuesday, December 8th, 1914. It was the golden wedding anniversary of this worthy couple. Another feature of the occasion which seldom, if ever happens in connection with an occurrence of this kind, was the fact that the fifty years of their married life was spent under the same roof. Mr Hase undoubtedly believed in the old adage of preparing the cage before he got the bird, and set to work more than half a century ago and built one of the finest homes in Dakota City. Being a first-class carpenter himself, the job was done right, as the present appearance of their home will attest. The only guests present besides the family were Mrs Martha Adair of Omaha, old time friends of the family, George Hase and family and Frank F Hase of Emerson, and Mr and Mrs D M Neiswanger of this place were the children present.

Auto Turns Over Killing Wm. Holsworth

William Holsworth, a young farmer living below Homer, was instantly killed, and his wife and baby, and Ira Johnson, a friend of Holsworth's were somewhat injured when the car in which they were returning from Sioux City turned over on the road about a quarter of a mile south of the depot at South Sioux City last Thursday evening. Something went wrong with the steering apparatus and before the brake could be applied the car swerved from the road and turned bottom side up. Mr Holsworth was thrown clear of the car and instantly killed, his neck being broken. Mrs Holsworth and baby, and the driver, Ira Johnson, were pinned beneath the auto. The occupants of a car that was following them rushed to their rescue and extricated them from the wreck, but their injuries were not serious.

Mr Holsworth's body was removed to South Sioux City and Coroner Munger, of Homer notified, but that official deemed it unnecessary to hold an inquest, and the remains were taken to the home of the deceased man's mother west of Homer and prepared for burial.

Deceased was a prominent young farmer, and the son of that sturdy pioneer, the late Wm Holsworth. His death came as a shock to his family and friends. His brother, Chas Holsworth, was serving on a jury in the district court at Dakota City at the time of the accident and was unable to leave until a verdict was rendered.

Wm Holsworth was born in Dakota county, May 16, 1873, and was killed in an auto wreck near South Sioux City Dec 3, 1914. Mr Holsworth was in good health and still in the prime of life, having only reached the age of 41 years, 6 months and 17 days.

He made his home on a farm about 7 miles southwest of Homer. He leaves a wife, four children, a mother, three brothers and five sisters to mourn his sudden demise.

Funeral services were held Sunday, Dec 6, at 1 P M at his mother's home southwest of Homer. Although the day was stormy the funeral was largely attended by neighbors and friends. Burial took place in the Omaha Valley cemetery south of Homer. The Rev Paul A J Buelow, pastor of the Lutheran church at Homer, officiated. A quartet made up of Homer people furnished the music.

Obituary.

Ira Downey was born in New York state, August 30, 1833, and died at the home of his son, Albert S Downey, Dakota City, Nebr, aged 81 years, 3 months and 6 days.

Of his early history the family know but little. Being a quiet man of few words, he seldom ever spoke of his boyhood, only to mention that he was reared by a step-father, his own father having died when Mr Downey was in his very tender years.

He was 25 years old when the Civil war broke out in 1861, and was living at Maquoketa, Jackson county, Ia. From his residence there he enlisted August 10, 1861, in Company A, 9th regiment of infantry, Iowa volunteers. At Dubuque, Ia, on September 24, 1861, he was mustered into the U S service and served faithfully as a veteran until the close of the war, not being mustered out of service until July 15, 1865.

Three years after the war, while in Lincoln county, Ia, he met and won for his wife Miss Elizabeth Moore. Their happy union took place November 1, 1868.

He then took up farming and followed this occupation for 25 years. He farmed in Illinois and Iowa and was living on a farm near Correctionville, Ia, when he retired and went to Shenandoah, Ia, to live. He lived there until March 4, 1903, when God saw fit to take away his wife and helpmate.

After the death of his wife, he visited among his children for one year, and then went to make his home with his son, Albert S Downey. With this son he has resided for three years previous and at the time of his death.

Mr Downey has one sister living, Mrs Joe Hall, of Euclaire, Wis. Eight children survive him—Mrs Mary Varner, of Correctionville, Ia; Mrs Henry Needles, of Thayer, Ia; Mrs Geo Owens, of Salide, Col; Mrs Fred Stevenson, of Hillsdale, Ore; Wm J Downey, of Cushing, Ia; Thos J Downey, of Omaha, Neb; Albert S Downey, of Dakota City, Nebr, and Ira L Downey, of Omaha, Nebr.

The death of Mr Downey was a beautiful one, an example to the living, and a comfort to those near and dear to him. In the afternoon previous to his death he called his son to his bedside, and said to him: "Allis you have been good to me and done what you could for me, and I thank you for it. I am going as fast as I can. Let me go. Don't try to save me. I am saved and sanctified." Another time he said, "It does not matter whether you bury me beside Lizzie or not. I will soon be with her anyway." With his dying breath he exclaimed, "I will soon be at home." He had a hope and a faith that gave him victory over death, and that made his death one of contentment and peace.

The funeral was held Sunday from the Downey home, Rev F J Atwood, officiating. Interment was in the Taylor cemetery.

Card of Thanks.

For the kindly acts and many words of sympathy on the part of our neighbors and friends in attending the last sad rites of our beloved father, Ira Downey, we wish to thank the people through the columns of the Herald.

Sioux City Journal

During the present European War you want facts—not rumors. The Sioux City Journal removes Both Day and Night reports of the most reliable news-gathering organization on the face of the globe—The Associated Press. This organization has its staff men in all the capitals of Europe. Its chief concern is to send facts, not rumors. It seeks to make certain that its dispatches are authentic before they are placed on the wires.

The desire of The Journal at all times is to give its readers the facts—not to mislead them with false, distressing and unconfirmed reports—and it will adhere to that policy during the present course of events in Europe.

The Journal, in receiving both Day and Night Associated Press Reports, gives its readers a twenty-four hour service. In publishing Morning, Evening and Sunday Editions, The Journal is prepared to give a service that cannot be equaled by that of any other newspaper in this section.

Judge George Thomas, of Columbus, Nebr, recently decided that if a man accepts a paper that is sent him he must pay for it. The decision was rendered in the case brought by the Columbus (Nebr) Telegram against a man for $2.35. The telegram had been sent to the man's house and he had accepted the paper. When called upon to pay for it he refused and suit was brought. When Judge Thomas heard the evidence he instructed the jury to bring in a verdict for the Telegram. Judge Thomas ruled that the old common law principle that what a man received and used he was bound to pay for applied in this instance.
